

CONTENTS

Contemporary Psychoanalysis, Volume 57, Number 2

SPECIAL SECTION ON INTERSECTIONALITY

GUEST EDITOR: MAX BELKIN

Max Belkin, Ph.D.

Intersectionality and Psychoanalysis 163

Michelle Ann Stephens, Ph.D.

Collisions in the Dark: Invisible Intersectionality and the Black Female Psychoanalyst 165

Toni Hellmann, LCSW

Clinical Reflections on Black Feminism in Psychoanalysis Blinded by the Light: Thoughts on Stephens' Collisions in the Dark 198

Max Belkin, Ph.D.

*Toward an Intersectional Psychoanalysis of Race,
Gender, and Sexuality* 206

Suzanne Little, Ph.D.

Whose Other? Reflections on Belkin's "Towards an Intersectional Psychoanalysis of Race, Gender, and Sexuality" 228

Malin Fors, MSc

Power Dynamics in the Clinical Situation: A Confluence of Perspectives 242

Gurmeet S. Kanwal, MD

More Than Simply Human: Intersectionality in Psychoanalytic Theory, Practice, and Establishment 270

SECTION ON EATING DISORDERS RECENT REFLECTIONS

Julia Elizabeth Sheehy, Ph.D.

*The Goldilocks Function: Eating Disorders, Object
Usage, and the Third* 306

Tom Wooldridge, Psy.D., ABPP, CEDS-S
Abjection, Traumatic Themes, and Alexithymia in Anorexia Nervosa 327

Jean Petrucelli, Ph.D., CEDS
*Embodied Liminality Inhabiting Selves: Reflections
On Papers By Sheehy And Wooldridge* 354

BOOK REVIEW

Review of Psychotherapy, Ethics, and Society: Another Kind of Conversation. by Michael Briant
REVIEWED BY ROGER BACON, M.A., Ph.D., Cantab 373